Specifications

Think about it. You want to listen to some music but you don't want to totally block out your surroundings. Or you just want to share your playlist with your buddies. Better yet you just want to add some ambiance to a moment without hunting for the aux cable. Well you could get a run off the mill bluetooth speaker which probably would have a poor connection with the occasional crackling and skipping. Or with very poor sound or a 30 minute battery life. Worst case you could get it with all these problems especially in Zimbabwe. Or you could take no chances and get the Mi Pocket bluetooth speaker. It has about 7 hours of battery life. The design it very nice and simple and the build quality has quite a solid feel. Oh and it literally is pocket sized. It's good enough to just decorate your desk with too if you need to add some bit of sophistication.
